About the Boudoir Photography.

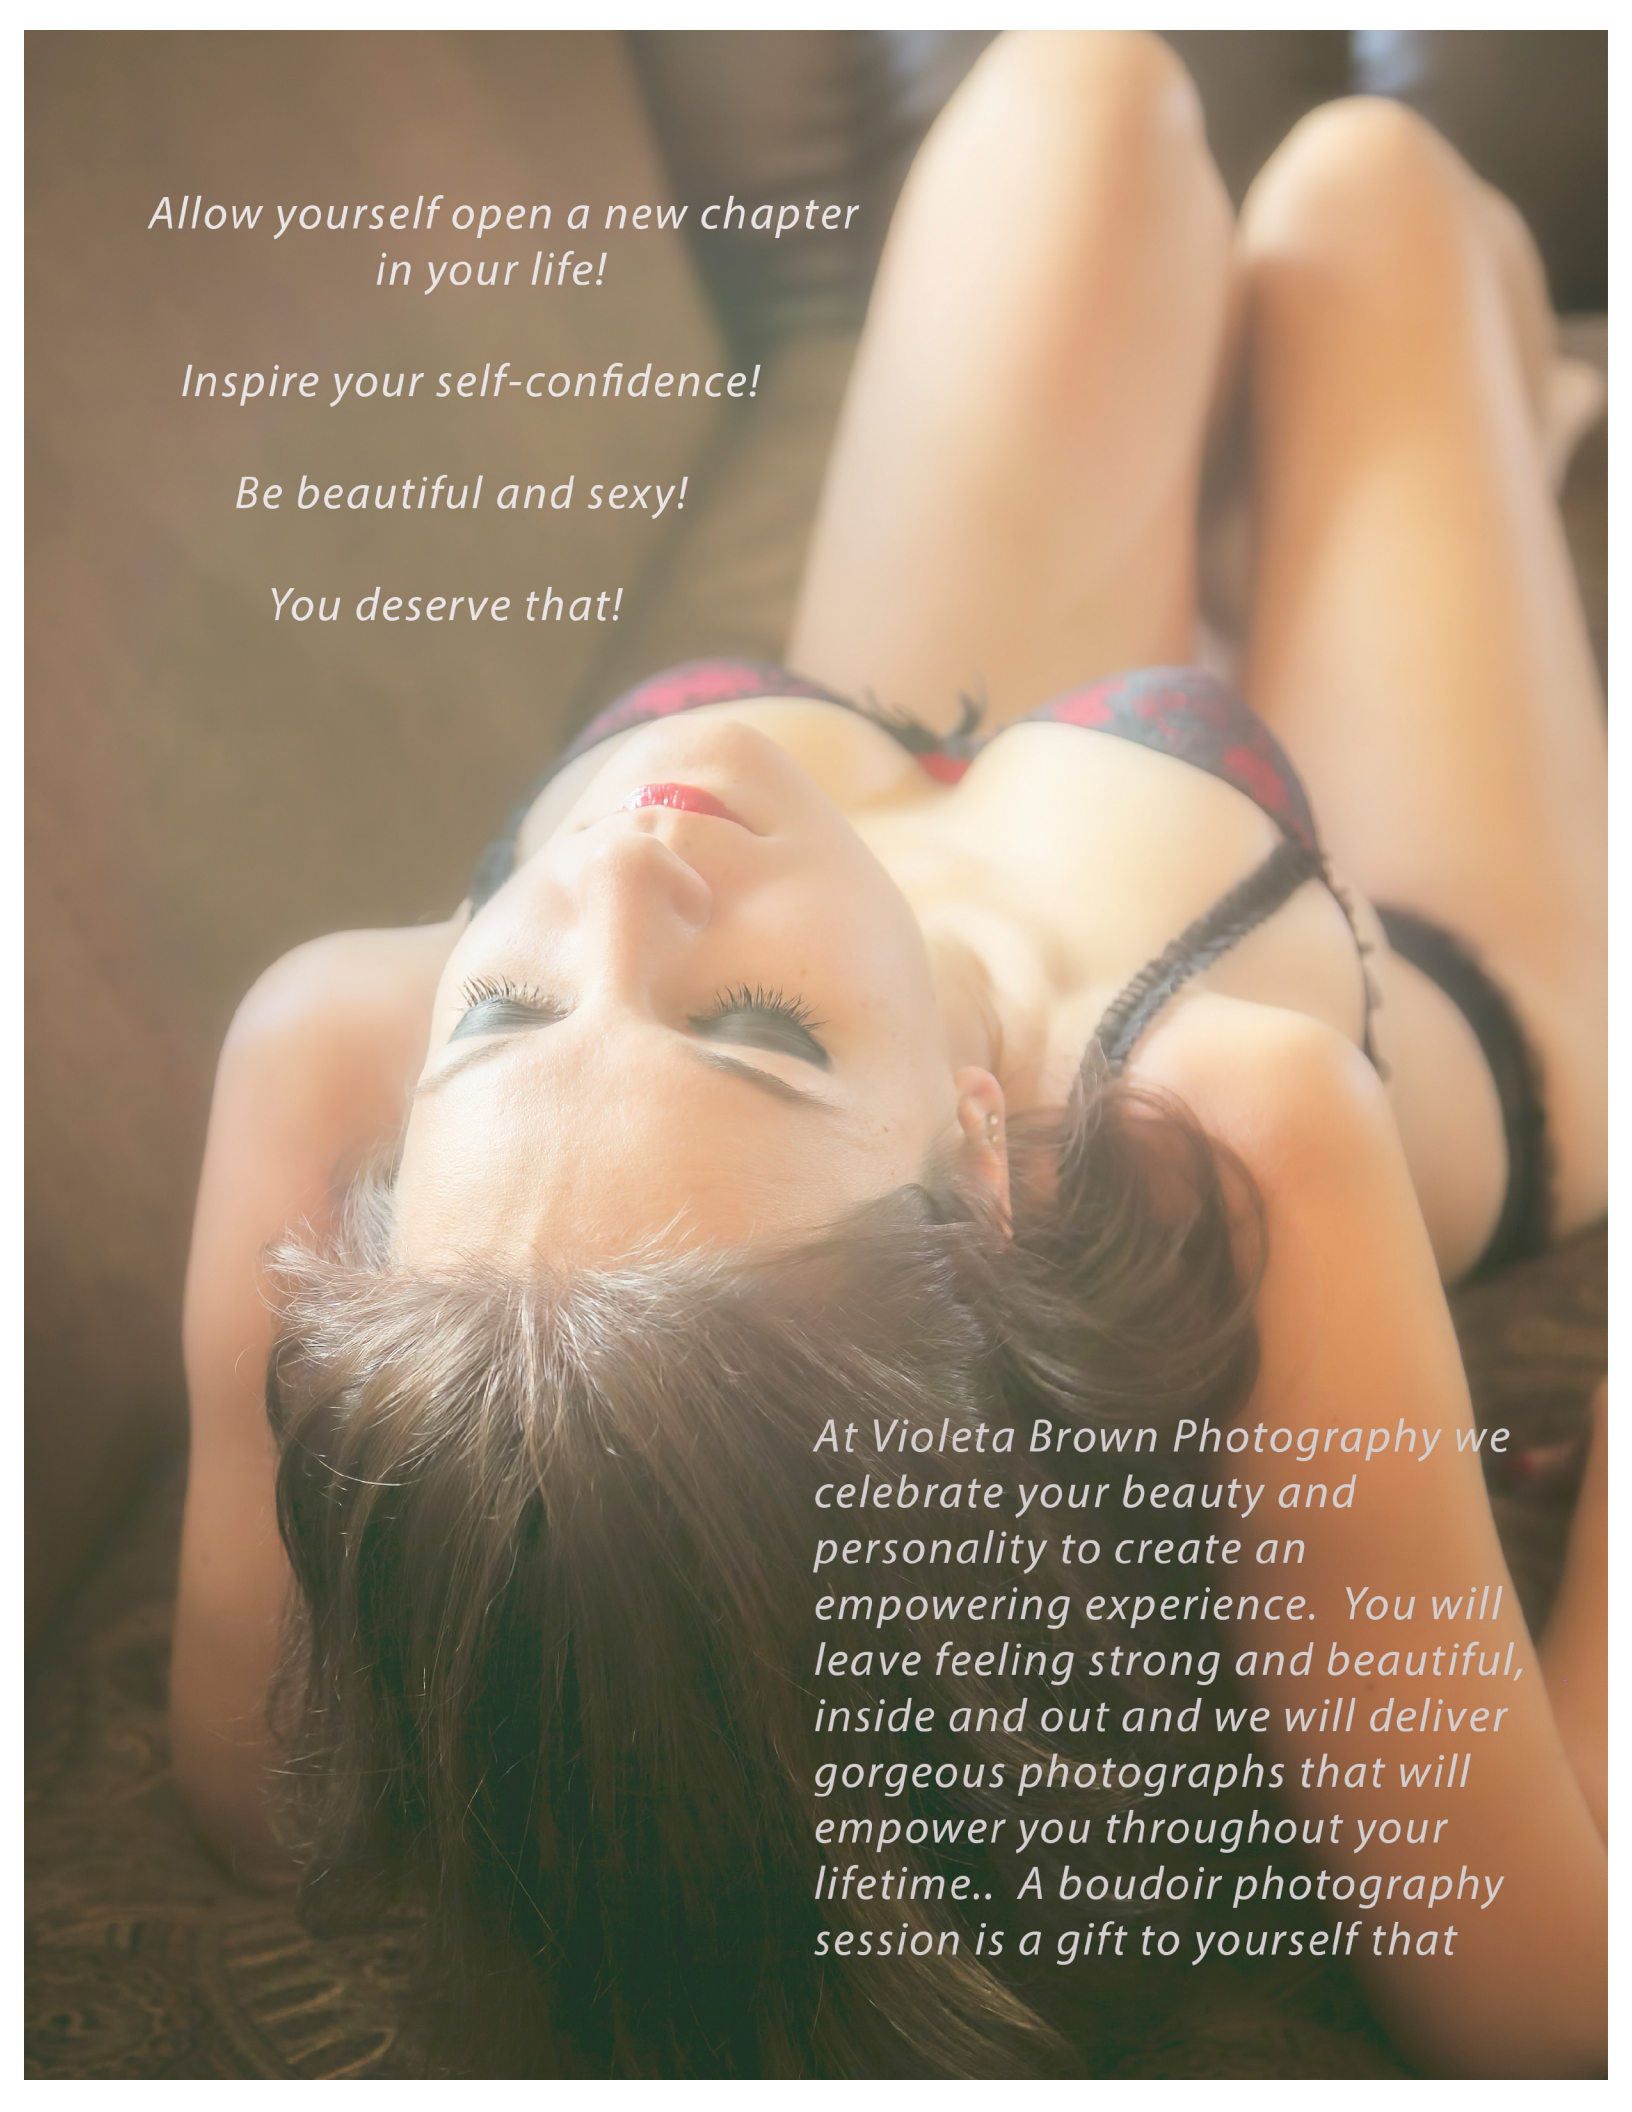

OK, so you have been hearing about boudoir photography but not sure what it is.

First thing first....how do you actually pronounce the word? Boudoir – pronounced { böö dwäawr } comes from late 18th century French word and is translated as – a woman’s bedroom or a private sitting room.

Boudoir photography, therefore, usually takes place in a setting such as a bedroom or a hotel room...an intimate setting to create classy images that can be soft, romantic, sexy, sensual, or naughty.

Boudoir Photography is highly regarded as fine art photography, which highlights the woman's beauty and emphasizes their feminine grace.

Who should go for boudoir photography?

All the women on Earth needs to go for boudoir photography.

A lot of us, as women, don't take the time to revel in our womanhood and enjoy or acknowledge our beauty or the freedom of indulgence, YET... Each of us deserves those pampered, special moments of feeling free to be the woman we are inside. Boudoir Photography encourages those moments of expression.

More in detail who should set up an boudoir/glamour session.

1. A woman that wants to surprise her special one with a unique and personal gift.... There's something about seeing him open photo album for the first time and drool all over your sexy photos.

2. A women that needs a confidence boost. a women who thinks that she is not not sexy anymore. Boudoir photography will help you discover that secret of seduction in you.

3. A woman that wants to capture her beauty forever. Lets face it, none of us are getting younger. 30 years from now a boudoir photo shoot will be the proof of your hotness. Your boudoir photographs preserve forever the memory of you now, as beautiful as you are now.

4. A woman that's been married for a long time and wants to add bit more passion in her private life with her husband and remind him of the treasure he has in you.

5. A woman that is thinking of having a baby and wants to have a reference point of what she wants her body to look like after the baby ;)

6. A woman size 0 to.....100, well maybe there is not such size but you get the point, there is no size, weight, or height limitations. Every woman is beautiful in her own special way and boudoir photography is there to help you bring it out.

So as you can see pretty much any woman is a great candidate for boudoir photography experience.

ABOUT THE PHOTOGRAPHER : VIOLETA BROWN

A little about me. I am Violeta Brown the owner of Violeta Brown Photography, LLC, a local woman owned business. I love to travel & meet new people I speaking fluently on several languages. I enjoy music & art. I believe in a persons honesty, friendship & love at first sight. I'm marriage, have a son that is my soul & heart. I enjoy a good movie. I enjoy laughing and spend time with friends & family. But most of the time you will find me behind the lens by capturing the story.

Photography is my BIGGEST PASSION. I'm supper lucky to have a job that I adore, Its what keeps me going. I have won awards in my home town. Since 2007 I have been working as wedding and boudoir photographer.

I enjoy photograph weddings and give to the couples something to really remember! I adore Capturing boudoir pictures and showing women just how beautiful they truly are. As I see them and everyone else sees.

I am committed to helping make every woman realize that YOU are beautiful, even when you aren't feel it!

I photographing women in intimate, soft and natural mos flattering poses. At Violeta Brown Photography we provide that confidence boost.

My goal is help you to see and feel that you are gorgeous. There is no valid reason to wait. You're perfect and beautiful just as you are.

Don't try to fit into an impossible mold. Are you thinking you could be perect if you could just fix one little thing?

You won't finde perfection by loosing a few more pounds or trying to hide each imperceptible blemish. You are perfectly beautiful now. It's not about how you look but rather how you feel about the way you look.

Some of us forget what is like to feel beautiful and strong along the way. We get to busy with our lives, our family and our job.

Boudoir experience with Violeta Brown it for you to feel that you are beautifuland sexy wooman again.

You deserve a fabulous experience, envision the sensation of going to the beauty salon for pampering but in this case ending up with stunning images that will give you a

BRINGING OUT YOUR INNER WOMAN

Your experience with our studio is complete pampering from start to finish. We will style your shoot based on our conversations with you and the outfits that you have chosen to wear for your shoot. We would even be happy to make some suggestions on what to wear and where to shop. You know who you are, it's simply time to express it.

At Violeta Brown Photography we provide a fabulous hair and makeup services. Our partnered hair/makeup artist will make you shine, not your skin, just your look. She will create the perfect look you're going for. You can request a natural to high glamour look, she will make it happen.

The day you arrive for your session you will start with a glass of refreshment (water, wine, champagne ...) while you are having your hair and makeup done.

Once you're finished, we move on to getting you into your first outfit and onto the set. Just relax, I'm a specialist in posing everyone to make them look their best. I will pose you down to your fingertips. By using flattering lighting/retouching I will capture your absolute beauty.

Before you know it you'll be laughing and barely aware that you're being photographed. Remember this is the ultimate girl's day out. You are going to feel and look amazing, so be shure to plan an evening out to continue the celebration of YOU!!!

One of the best parts is that you get a sneak peek at one or two of your best images within 24 hours. Exciting, isn't it!

EXPERIENCE allows yourself to feel beautiful

POSING

I'm an expert at capturing you in most flattering way.

I photographed hundreds of boudoir photography sessions with overjoyed customers and I know exactly how to pose you. You don't need to worry about a thing, all you need is just show up for your session and let me take care of the rest.

Once it's time for your shoot I will just ask you to do simple things such as: "bring your chin forward, rest your hands here, now look up at me, etc" It's super simple and you don't need to do anything to prepare for this.

Retouching

We respect your beauty and personality to create an empowering images. We not going for a plastic doll skin look, but we will help with skin imperfections while still making you look like you. We're simply removing those unwanted blemishes, reducing stretch marks, scars etc. , and if you wake up with a pimple on the day of the shoot we will take care of it for you.

Each images you order will come skin retouched
(removal of any blemishes, scars, reduce celulite, stretch marks, etc.)

Beauty Art POST & You PRODUCTION

You've done your part, the rest is up to us. Your images are fabulous and now, we simply will put the finishing touches on them to make them outstanding.

Just as we helped you primp and fuss getting ready for your session, that is what we do now with your images. We choose the best of the best and do the slightest of touch-ups to make your skin perfect and your eyes pop. That's the magic.

We have already talked with you about anything you would love to have touched up, any marks you may want softened or removed, any slight imperfection you may want corrected.

We believe in taking images that show you as you are. Of course, we want you to be over the moon with your final images so we do some post production touch-ups. We may do very slight body sculpturing in post-production, however we stress it will be very subtle. You probably won't even realize that it's been done.

Post production work is about enhancing not changing.

Beautiful You

Preparing for your Boudoir Photo Session

The Week before your Session

Drink up to 8 glasses of water a day to hydrate your skin, hydrated skin will make a world of difference to your skin's appearance by making it appear softer, glowing and more youthful.

Make sure you're doing a full body moisturizing daily and don't forget to moisturize your lips as well.

Have a facial a week prior to your shoot, so your skin is in perfect condition for your session.

Do have your eyebrows and other waxing done so there is time for your skin to calm down if needed.

If you're planning on getting a hair cut or coloring, again a week or two in advance is best.

Try on all your outfits with any accessories to make sure you love the look and feel of them.

If you tan, have your last session a week prior to your boudoir session so it has time to settle, you don't want unnatural skin tones to mess with your images.

The Day before your Session

Have that mani and pedicure to make sure that your nails are perfect. Choose a nail color that works beautifully with your outfits and fits with the mood you want to portray in your session. Bring your nail polish with you just in case.

Gather all your outfits, accessories and shoes together. Keeping the items together that you want for each look will help you feel prepared and at ease.

Make sure to be well rested, you'll feel less nervous and be more confident.

I had THE MOST amazing shoot with Violeta Brown Photography. Violeta the photographer and Elena, my hair and makeup artist really put me at ease. Having already shared a Pinterest board with Violeta helped us to narrow down our favourite images. Elena worked her magic and made me feel fabulous, within 60 minutes of the magic transformation it was time to take those all important photos. Violeta is super professional behind the camera and knows what will and what won't work. If you are thinking about it, just go for it. I left feeling gorgeous and just fabulous - exactly how you want to feel right before your wedding. I know my husband to be is going to LOVE the pictures as much as I do! .

The whole experience was truly amazing! I was very nervous and almost dreading it before I arrived! As soon as I arrived there Violeta made me feel much more relaxed. She was very professional and made me feel so comfortable during the shoot. I enjoyed my session so much that I would like to do it again!! If you are thinking of doing it, even if you think you could never do it GO and DO it!!! It will be a really empowering experience and I promise you'll love it! My husband to be loved the album and was completely surprised. I would definitely recommend doing a bridal boudoir shoot with Violeta Brown, not only is it a great present for your other half but it's a fantastic, confidence boosting and once in a lifetime experience.
